++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Fog patches likely tonight. A few showers on Tuesday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Dry with light winds and prolonged clear spells. Becoming cold by dawn, with a patchy frost likely in rural areas. A mixture of fog and low cloud will form in Lincolnshire through the early hours, moving slowly westwards. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Tuesday:
A dry morning with plenty of sunshine, any low cloud receding to the coast. Cloudier with a few showers during the afternoon though feeling warm in any spell of sunshine. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Early rain clearing south on Wednesday, then dry and largely sunny through this period. Feeling warm by daytime though slightly colder along coasts, due to onshore winds. Some overnight frosts.
